

ECS Web Site Privacy Policy

ECS hereby affirms its strong commitment to the privacy of its Web users. This statement outlines policies and procedures pertaining to information gathering from the ECS Web site: www.ecs.org.

Collection of user information

If you only browse the Web site during your visit and input no data, we collect no personally identifying information about you. As you visit our Web site, software automatically collects and stores only the following information about your visit, mostly for statistical purposes:

- The name of the domain and IP address from which you access our Web site
- The type of browser used to access our site
- The date and time you access our site
- The Internet address of the Web site from which you linked directly to our site
- The pages you visit
- Sections of the website you attempted to visit but were unable to due to programming or other technical problems.

ECS may use cookies to collect, store and sometimes track information for statistical purposes, to improve the products and services we provide, or to save your settings and to provide customizable and personalized services. These cookies do not enable third parties to access any of your personal information.

From time to time, ECS utilizes software programs to create summary statistics from this information in order to determine what ECS resources are utilized most or least frequently by our users and to identify system performance or problem areas.

We collect personal information only from those individuals who voluntarily provide it to us by sending us e-mail or completing an online form. Our site uses order forms for customers to request information, products and services. We collect users' contact information (e.g., name and e-mail address) and financial information (e.g., account or credit card numbers). Financial information is used to bill the user for products and services. Contact information from the order form is used to send orders, contact the user regarding any problems with the order and to provide the user with information about our association, including promotional materials.

Disclosure of user information

It is ECS policy not to share, lease or sell collected data with third parties. We may disclose information collected if, in our sole discretion, we believe that it is reasonable to do so to satisfy laws, such as the Electronic Communications Privacy Act, regulations, or governmental or legal requests for such information.

Links to other sites

ECS links to reports and Web sites that we believe will be of interest to our constituents. ECS is diligent in identifying legitimate reports and Web sites. However, ECS is not responsible for the privacy practices or content of Web sites or documents hosted by third parties.

Changes to this policy

ECS reserves the right to revise, amend or modify this privacy policy and our other policies and agreements at any time and in any manner. Notice of any revision, amendment or modification will be posted in accordance with our Web site Terms of Use.
